#ANTIBULLYINGWEEK

In the school environment, where peer pressure and the desire to be popular still holds fast, education remains as important as ever in developing young people's social and emotional awareness. This year, the 'All Different, All Equal' theme looks at:

- How to empower children and young people to celebrate what makes them, and others, unique
- Helping children and young people understand how important it is that every child feels valued and included in school and able to be themselves without fear of bullying
- Encouraging parents and carers to work with their school and talk to their children about bullying, difference and equality
- Enabling teachers and other children's workforce professionals to celebrate what makes us 'all different, all equal' and celebrate difference and equality, encouraging them to take individual and collective action to prevent bullying and create safe environments where children can be themselves.

Have you logged on at home recently? Have you seen the update to Mathletics?

Did you know that a pupil from a school in Amble was in the top 100 this week for the Live Mathletics – Shilbottle have yet to reach this accolade!

You can play Live Mathletics against your friends so long as you are online at the same time ...

Which class uses Mathletics the most in school?

At the minute Year 5 are the most active class – are you going to let it stay this way?

The Remembrance Day Poster winners visited The Haven on Tuesday. They enjoyed seeing all of the posters and were impressed by the knitted poppies on the tree 😊
