E-Safety: How To Keep Children Safe Online When Using Social Media

Why Do Age Restrictions Matter?

There's a reason why children must be aged 12 and over and at least 135cm tall before they are allowed to sit in the front passenger seat of a car using an adult seat belt. It's the same reason that young people are not allowed to gamble in betting shops and casinos until they are 18 or drink alcohol before they reach the same age. Age restrictions are about keeping children safe until they are old enough to engage with an activity with complete awareness of what they're letting themselves in for.

Do You Know Your Social Media Age Restrictions?

The majority of social media sites such as Twitter, Facebook, Snapchat, Instagram, Reddit, Tumblr, Google+, Pinterest have a minimum age requirement of 13. YouTube is 18, as is the photo sharing site Flickr, although a child can sign up to YouTube account at just 13 with their parent's permission. The mobile chat app WhatsApp is unusual in so far as it has a minimum age requirement of 16.
